

How to use this Bible study pack:

There is a suggested order in which to complete the lessons (indicated by the number in parentheses at the top of each page). The way that my children (6 and 3) and I use the pack allows us to discuss the same topic over the course of a month. Every Saturday morning, we talk about one page. I respect their attention spans and make sure that we don't go over 10 minutes. If you do it this way, one good idea is to read and try to memorize each scripture in the days leading up to its respective portion of the study. Another suggestion is to read (or listen to*) the full chapter of the Bible study scripture on a day BEFORE Bible study day.

If you complete each page in separate sessions, you may want to save the coloring page for last and review the most important points of the study as they color. The coloring page also serves as an affirmation of what was learned. Consider having your child repeat the phrase out loud and taping it to their bedroom wall as a reminder.

More Suggestions:

- Make it as age appropriate for your child(ren) as possible.
- Depending on their age, take some time to discuss the verse at the top with your child(ren). Ask them what they think it means and to repeat the verse out loud.
- Let your child decorate a folder/binder to keep their Bible study pages in.

*I usually search Youtube or Google for "[book name, chapter] audio Bible".

Copyright © 2021 Jasmine Bryant

All rights reserved.

For home use only, within one family.

Contact for information about use in church, school, daycare or other settings.

jasminebryant@proverbs31exclusive.com

proverbs31exclusive.com